GENERAL SITUATION

New York State Governor Andrew M. Cuomo today announced that New York State will adopt the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention’s new guidance on mask use for fully vaccinated people. The guidelines state that fully vaccinated people, defined as two or more weeks after receiving the second dose of the Pfizer or Moderna vaccine or the single-dose Johnson & Johnson vaccine, no longer need to wear masks outdoors, except in certain crowded settings and venues. However, masks should still be worn indoors and should still be worn by people who are not fully vaccinated.

Gov. Cuomo announced that the 12 a.m. food and beverage service curfew will be lifted for outdoor dining areas beginning May 17 and for indoor dining areas beginning May 31.

Gov. Cuomo also announced that catered events can resume at residences beginning May 3 above the State’s residential gathering limit of 10 people indoors and 25 people outdoors, as long as the events are staffed by a professional, licensed caterer, permitted by the respective locality or municipality, and strictly adhere to health and safety guidance, including social and event gathering limits, masks, and social distancing. Finally, starting May 3, seating at bars will be allowed in New York City, consistent with the food services guidance that is in effect statewide.

New York State: Belmont Park will re-open to a limited number of spectators on Saturday, May 1. In accordance with New York State requirements, spectators must purchase track admission in advance and adhere to strict health and safety protocols designed to mitigate the risk of COVID-19. All ticketed spectators must submit proof of a completed vaccination or a negative COVID-19 test result.

New Jersey Governor Phil Murphy announced summer camps - both day camps and sleepaways - will open for the upcoming season. Murphy also hinted the state will see an acceleration in reopening after New York announced end dates for the curfews on food and beverage service that were imposed in response to the coronavirus pandemic.

Connecticut Governor Ned Lamont announced that more than 50 providers of COVID-19 vaccines in Connecticut will no longer require an appointment prior to providing individuals with vaccinations. Connecticut residents will be able walk-up to the clinic and receive a vaccination on-the-spot. The no-appointment, walk-up clinics are part of a continuing series of efforts aimed at making it easier for Connecticut residents to receive COVID-19 vaccines. Connecticut continues to be among the leaders in the nation with the most shots per capita.
